White Weddings Go 'Green' on A Grand Wedding

SEATTLE, WA – Local 'dot com' A Grand Wedding (www.agrandwedding.com) brings 'green'-thinking to the wedding industry with its revolutionary BUY, BORROW or SHARE feature.

From light bulbs to diapers, everything has gone 'green' and weddings are no different. Media sources such as the Seattle P.I. and TheStreet.com are sprouting green wedding tips and the trend is catching on. Seattle's A Grand Wedding is an active part of the green wedding movement by encouraging brides to recycle wedding items they no longer need.

"Instead of buying something new you can more than likely find it on A Grand Wedding," says Georgie Hockett, co-founder & Original Bride of aGrandWedding.com, the only wedding resource connecting brides who want to save the planet... and some money. "We provide options for brides who want high-end, quality wedding items – such as a couture wedding dress – without the couture price tag."

Hockett says A Grand Wedding's 'Buy' section is where former brides can sell their wedding dress to a new bride; and 'Borrow' is where you can rent everything from a Mother-of-the-Bride dress to centerpieces. "But perhaps the best part is 'Share,'" says Hockett. "It's where two brides can divide the cost of a wedding item they both want." Ideally for centerpieces, linens, even bridesmaid's dresses or tuxes, 'Share' is where brides connect to split the bill.

"A Grand Wedding is 'green' in the way that it's all about recycling items you no longer need or use," explains Hockett. "You can also make someone's wedding dreams come true by offering to sell, rent or split the cost on a wedding item a bride may think she can't afford if it's new," says Hockett.

A Grand Wedding also boasts wedding vendors with quality services or products priced under a thousand dollars and a community where brides can share planning tips and provide emotional support. "You'll never see the words 'budget' or 'bargain' on A Grand Wedding," says Hockett. "This is a site for savvy, brand-conscious brides who want a beautiful, meaningful wedding with a realistic price tag."

About A Grand Wedding (agrandwedding.com)

A Grand Wedding (www.agrandwedding.com) is the only web resource where every vendor on the site has a wedding service under a thousand dollars. A Grand Wedding also introduces BUY, BORROW or SHARE — a revolutionary way for brides to purchase, rent or split the bill on wedding items — and AngelBride®, where wedding wishes are granted by donated, professional wedding services. The Grand Wedding concept was created by local couple, Dave and Georgie Hockett. "We wanted a beautiful wedding with enough money left over for a beautiful life," says Georgie. "We wanted a marriage, not just a wedding."
